PRESS RELEASE

AT Conference Recognized by Inc. Magazine on its Exclusive Inc. 5000 List

AT Conference is the 229th fastest-growing company in the Business Products/Services sector, according to the 2010 Inc. 5000 list of Fastest-Growing Privately Held Companies in America. Company grew 95% from 2006-2009 providing conferencing services primarily to the SMB market.

NEW YORK, September 8, 2010 - AT Conference today announced that for the third consecutive year it has been recognized as one of fastest-growing companies in America by Inc. Magazine's Inc. 5000, an exclusive ranking of the nation's fastest-growing private companies.

The 2010 Inc. 5000 rankings are based on percentage revenue growth over three years, from 2006 - 2009. AT Conference grew 95% percent during this period as a provider of conference call and web conferencing services.

AT Conference ranked number 2,517 overall of the 5,000 companies recognized and number 229 of 500 companies in the business products/services sector. The company ranked number 139 of 352 New York-based companies on the Inc. 5000.

The Inc. 5000 The list represents the most comprehensive look at the most important segment of the economy — America's independent-minded entrepreneurs. Music website Pandora, convenience store chain 7-Eleven, Brooklyn Brewery, and Radio Flyer, maker of the iconic children's red wagon, are among the prominent brands featured on this year's list.

AT Conference's CEO, David Jannetti, said, "Given the difficult economic conditions experienced in the United States over the majority of the grading period, this year's Inc. 5000 award is especially gratifying. Achieving the kind of growth we had in a difficult environment is a testament to the exceptional efforts put forth by the entire AT Conference team. Our recent increase in capacity and competitive rate structure will allow us to continue to market our conferencing services as a more cost-effective - and greener - alternative to business travel and face-to-face meetings going forward."

"The leaders of the companies on this year's Inc. 5000 have figured out how to grow their businesses during the longest recession since the Great Depression," said Inc. president Bob LaPointe. "The 2010 Inc. 5000 showcases a particularly hardy group of entrepreneurs."

About 2010 Inc. 5000

The 2010 Inc. 5000 serves as a unique illustration of the profound changes taking place in the U.S. economy. The Government Services sector showed the biggest gain in terms of the number of companies on the list, up 33 percent from last year to 335 companies. Government Services was also the second-fastest-growing sector in terms of median revenue growth, posting a 202 percent gain over the 2006-2009 measuring period. More than half of these companies are based in Maryland, Virginia, and Washington, D.C. The fastest-growing sector by median revenue growth was Real Estate, now just a tiny group of 38 young, small companies, which showed 231 percent median growth over the period. (There were 121 Real Estate firms on the inaugural Inc. 5000 in 2007.) Business Products & Services is the top industry by number of companies on the list (640) and total revenue ($80.7 billion), while Health is the biggest by total employment (287,726 jobs).

Despite the fact that most of this year's measuring period of 2006-2009 took place during the latest recession, aggregate revenue among the companies on the list actually increased to $321.6 billion, up more than 50 percent from last year. The effects of the recession are seen, however, in the median three-year growth rate, which dropped to 96 percent from last year's 126 percent. This year's Inc. 5000 employ a record 1.4 million people, up from one million on last year's list. With unemployment remaining stubbornly high, policymakers and business leaders will do well to look to the Inc. 5000 companies for fresh ideas on achieving growth and creating jobs.
