AT Conference Introduces Enterprise Invoicing

New Feature Allows Enterprise Account Administrators to Easily Monitor Sub-Accounts across Multiple Corporate Divisions

NEW YORK, August 23, 2011 - AT Conference today announced the launch of Enterprise Invoicing, another value-added service available to any AT Conference client wanting to more effectively manage and streamline the billing process for their accounts. The new administrative feature allows users the means to more easily monitor their usage of conferencing services across multiple corporate divisions.

Enterprise Invoicing allows a client to establish an 'Enterprise Account' with associated sub-accounts. Sub-accounts may be created for the purposes of being unique bill-to addresses or to support multi-level cost allocation. Enterprise Invoicing provides an easy to read summary of all accounts associated with the Enterprise Account plus individual sub-account information.

Enterprise Invoicing emails the client a Zip file containing PDF files of the summary invoice, all sub-account invoices and statements for the current billing period, and supporting electronic data if requested. Payment may be made for the Enterprise Account or at the sub-account level.

"Enterprise Invoicing was developed to allow our users more options when it comes to monitoring and controlling their conferencing costs," said David Jannetti, AT Conference CEO. "Along with ManageYourCall and ManageYourConferencing, our clients can expect the most robust and streamlined conferencing tools available in today's market," Jannetti added.
