American Teleconnect is AT Conference:
a brand upgrade for customers

Press Release

American Teleconnect, a leading provider of on-demand conferencing services since 1999, is undergoing a re-Evolution. We are proud to announce that we are now AT Conference.

Why a name change? To better reflect our core business — conferencing. The new name is relevant, focused and quite simply, to make it shorter and easier to remember.

We at AT Conference want to remind our customers that we still stick to state-of-the-art conferencing and only conferencing — phone, web, operator attended — which is part of why we do it best.

With this name change comes a brand new look — our logo has been changed to reflect the personal, responsive, reliable nature of our company. Our web site and materials have been updated to keep pace with our technological enhancements, including our doubled capacity. This is conferencing for business — and now it shows!

While our brand has changed, the great service hasn't. We are still easy to reach, still based in Southampton and as always, we look forward to serving you.

AT Conference, phone, web and operator attended conferencing for business — anytime, anywhere, on your terms.
